WHAT A FEATURE COULD MEAN FOR YOU

Broudy Precision is a market leader that ensures uniformity across all five major social media channels, boasting an impressive following of over 4,000 committed fans. Our monthly newsletter, routinely garners approximately 20,000 views, supported by direct emails that land in the inboxes of over 6,000 loyal subscribers. With our reach, your company's narrative would organically touch thousands, catapulting your credibility and exposure exponentially. Don't just share your story, let us magnify it and make it echo all across the digital landscape.

Imagine this—you're flipping through the pages of our newsletter, and right there, front and center, is an in-depth feature on the project we partnered on, with your logo and a direct link to your business website. This kind of exposure can be invaluable for your brand's credibility and industry recognition. In showcasing your success, we celebrate your achievements and offer a platform to share best practices, innovative approaches, and inspirational narratives with a vast audience of peers and potential clients.

Specifically, a feature with us will include a 1-2 page spread in our monthly newsletter dedicated to your project. We'll highlight your logo and company name, include an engaging overview of your venture, and detail how our partnership contributed to your triumph. You'll also have a digital link to your website, boosting your online presence. To top it all off, we'll craft a blog post linking to the feature, shared across our social media platforms, weekly email blasts, and even the website banner for the month.

THE POWER OF KNOWLEDGE SHARING

For any industry, a well-crafted case study serves as an invaluable resource. It's a window into real-world scenarios and hands-on experiences that can teach, inspire, and guide both veterans and newcomers in the business. By contributing your success story, you're doing more than just marketing your company; you're contributing to the collective wisdom that propels the industry forward.

Sharing your case study with us is simple. Outline the project's objective, the Broudy products you utilized, and the path to your victory. If writing isn't your forte, don't worry—our dedicated marketing team is on hand to help you draft and refine your story before it highlights our newsletter.

THE NITTY-GRITTY OF SUBMISSION

To secure your spot in the limelight, send your case study to marketing@broudyprecision.com. Keep it informative and engaging, as we aim to present the essence of your achievement in a compelling narrative form. The submission deadline for inclusion in the following month's newsletter is the first week of every month. We can't wait to showcase your excellence!

Take advantage of the amplification of your narrative. Share your success with us, and together, we'll raise the bar for what is exemplary in industry partnerships. After all, your success is our success.

Please submit your story now and take the first step towards a spotlight in our following newsletter. We're eager to hear from you!
